HANDOUT

Definition

Narrative text is a type of text that tells a series of events in a chronological or interconnected system. Narrative text is generally imaginative, not real or in the form of the imagination of the author.

Narrative text is a story with complication or problematic events and it tries to find the resolutions to solve the problems. An important part of narrative text is the narrative mode, the set of methods used to communicate the narrative through a process narration.

Social Function

The social function of narrative is to amuse, entertain and to deal with an actual or vicarious experience in different ways. It also deals with problematic events which lead to a crisis or turning point of some kind, which in turn finds a resolution.

Story, as an important part of culture, is very identical to the narrative. Story or narrative can be used to convey moral value which is very helpful to build one's personality. Even a character of a nation can very much be influenced by stories (fairy tale, legend, fable, myth) which spread all over the nation and are told from generation to generation.

The Generic Structure

Commonly a narrative text has the following structure:

Orientation

Introducing the participants and informing the time and the place.

It sets the scene: where and when the story happened and introduces the participants of the story: who and what is involved in the story.

Complication

Exploring the conflict in the story. It shows the rising crisis and the climax of the story.

Resolution

Showing the way the participants of the story solve the crises, for better or worse.

Re-orientation/Coda

This is a closing remark to the story and it is optional. It consists of a moral lesson, advice or teaching from the writer

Language Features

Using Past Tense

It is logical since the stories typically happen in the past. They can use simple past, past continuous or past perfect tense.

Simple past tense used to tell the past event. Because it is closely related to stories or stories in the past, the most commonly used tenses in narrative texts are past tenses with changes in the form of the verb 1 to verb 2.

Using action verbs

Action verbs are verbs that show the performance of action. They specifically describe what the subject (person, animal, force of nature, or thing) of the sentence is doing, e.g.: run, walk, cry, scream, explode, kick, etc.

Using temporal conjunction

Temporal conjunctions express relationships with time, in the flow or sequence of events, e.g.: before, after, during/while (a period or an activity), since, until, when.

Using saying and thinking verb

In addition to using action verbs, other verbs that often appear in narrative texts are saying and thinking verbs. Saying verb is a verb to indicate the act of speaking, for example tell, say, etc.

Meanwhile, thinking verb is a verb that serves to inform the reader about what the characters think about an event in the story. An example of the verb is thought.

Conjunction of Time

Because narrative text is a story in chronological form, you can use the conjunction of time to connect the plots of each different time setting, simply to sequence events. Conjunction of time is a conjunction in English to show adverbs of time. Examples are before, after, as soon as, until, till, and many more.

Adjective

Usually, in narrative texts, these adjectives serve to describe or explain the specific characteristics of each character mentioned in the story. For example, Aladdin is a poor man, Cinderella is a beautiful girl, snow white

Noun

Furthermore, in narrative texts we will often find nouns as pronouns for certain people, animals, or things. For example, there are narrative texts that tell about Queen Elizabeth or about King William.

Kinds of narrative text are:

1. Fairy tales (cerita dongeng khayalan)
2. Folk tales (cerita rakyat)
3. Fable (cerita tentang binatang)
4. Legend (legenda)
5. Myth (mitos)

The Grasshopper and the Ants

One summer, a grasshopper spent his days merrily singing and dancing. He hopped everywhere, while ants were busy gathering grains of wheat and corn.

He laughed at the ants and said, "How dull! Why don't you sing and dance with me instead of working under the hot sun?"

"We are storing away food for the winter," they explained, "you should do the same."

The grasshopper laughed and replied, "Why worry about the winter? I have plenty to eat for now." And he hopped away to look for someone to play with.

But when the winter came, the grasshopper could find no more food. Shivering, he knocked at the ants ' door. "Can you spare some seeds?" he begged. "I'm cold and hungry!"

"We worked hard all summer to store away food," they answered. "What were you doing?"

"I was busy singing and dancing," he said.

"Then sing and dance for us now!" they told him.

"It's time you work for your dinner."

Text 1

The Rose and The Cactus

Once upon a time, there was a beautiful rose in a garden. One rose flower on the plant was proud of its beauty. However, it was disappointed that it was growing next to an ugly cactus.

Every day, the rose would insult the cactus about its looks, but the cactus stayed quiet. All the other plants in the garden tried to stop the rose from bullying the cactus, but the rose was too selfish by its own beauty and did not listen to anyone.

One summer, a well in the garden dried up and there was no water for the plants. The rose slowly began to wilt. The rose saw a sparrow dip its beak into the cactus for some water.

The rose then felt ashamed for having made fun of the cactus all this time. But because it was in need of water, it went to ask the cactus if it could have some water. The kind cactus agreed, and they both got through summer as friends.

Text 2

Thumbelina

Once upon a time, there was a kind woman who had no children, longed for a baby and would often say, "How I would love to have a baby girl, even a tiny little one." A beautiful fairy heard her wish one day, and gave her a little seed to plant in a flowerpot. When the seed bloomed into a tulip, the woman saw a tiny, beautiful girl inside, no bigger than her thumb. She decided to call her Thumbelina.

She was so small that she had a walnut shell for a bed and used petals as a blanket. Then, an ugly toad fell in love with Thumbelina.

One night when she was sleeping, he carried her off to his lily pad in a pond. Thumbelina was very unhappy. A swallow was passing by and saw how sad she looked, and said, "Come south with me to warmer lands." Young Thumbelina flew away on the swallow's back.

They flew across the seas and came to a land of sunshine. The swallow said, "This is my home. You can live in one of the loveliest and biggest flowers."

When Thumbelina stepped inside, she found a handsome fairy, as tiny as her, in its heart. He was the son of the king of flowers and he fell in love with Thumbelina. He asked her to marry him. So Thumbelina became queen of the flowers and the two lived happily ever after.
